Authentic New Zealand family and cultural experiences, close to nature and the city

Upper Hutt College recognises that international students come to New Zealand for a variety of reasons. The school offers a number of different learning pathways for students to follow, whether their motivation is to gain a qualification, to improve their English, or to experience a different culture.

In addition to a broad range of academic subjects, Upper Hutt College has particular strengths in the performing and visual arts as well as physical and outdoor education.

All students are welcome to join the College's Māori and Polynesian groups to learn traditional songs and dances.

Upper Hutt is a safe and friendly community close to nature with regular bus and train services to Wellington city centre, the coolest little capital city.
